WHAT WE ARE LEARNING

- * Math – Students are converting metric and customary units, finding volume, and classifying geometric shapes.
- * Reading – Students are learning to build on their reading comprehension and responding with text evidence.
- * Writing – Students are learning to organize their research papers using subtopics and headings.
- * Science – Students are studying the body systems.
- * Social Studies – Students are beginning their study of colonization. We will explore the Spanish, English, Dutch, and French settlements.

HOMEWORK

The next two weeks we will have... *8-11 through 8-17 Math Homework. Students can turn their homework in as they complete it, or they can turn it in all together. As always, all students should be reading 20 to 30 minutes a night.

Current Events in social studies were due several weeks ago. Students were given class time to complete these, but many are still missing. Please reach out if your child is struggling with this.

NOTES FROM THE TEACHER

Reproductive health information was sent home. Please be sure to review this material. Field trip permission slips were sent home. Be sure to send these back as soon as possible. If your child will not be going, please let us know in advance. We have enjoyed discussing your child's progress at conferences. Our partnership is key to their success and we appreciate you.
